

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

The Marquis and Marchioness of Waterford and family are expected at Curraghmore before Christmas.

Much speculation exists in the town of Bray as to what course the Commissioners will adopt as to the appointment or otherwise of a successor to Mr. Price.

A special general meeting of the Independent Club and Irish National League, Sarsfield Branch, was held on Sunday, November 6, at the rooms in the Town Hall. Matters of the very greatest importance were discussed.

The Earl of Lucan, who has just been created a Knight of the Order of St. Patrick by Queen Victoria, is the head of the popular Irish house of Bingham, and son of the commander of the British cavalry in the Crimean war, to whom belongs the merit or the blame for the Light Brigade at Balaklava.

In a supplementary dispatch in the London Gazette, the following officers are mentioned in connection with the battle of Omdurman: Capt. Curzon and Doran, Royal Irish Regiment; Capt. Matchett, Connaught Rangers; Capt. Smith, Royal Dublin Fusiliers, and Capt. Hill, Bart, Royal Irish Fusiliers.

The Celts of Dublin are making the necessary preliminary arrangements for their visit to Belfast. Sunday sports are new things in Belfast, and the idea seems to be favorably received there in sporting circles; in proof of which the Celtic Football Association Club have given over the grounds to the Red Branch Gaelic Club for the day.

It is highly gratifying to note that the Rochford testimonial, as far as Kingstown is concerned, to the family of a worthy Irishman is progressing satisfactorily. The influential committee which has charge of it are doing all that is possible to insure its success, for it is earnestly to be trusted that all sections of Nationalists will join heartily in its support.

Sunday evening there was a solemn office for the dead in the Church of St. Mary, Drogheda, and on Monday morning a solemn requiem high mass was also celebrated for all who suffered in Ireland in '98, and who need prayers. The commemorative sermon was preached by Father Woods, Rahan, and the Drogheda Corporation attended in state, and they were present at the mass on the following morning.

It is rumored that another County Court judgment is about to become vacant, and already candidates in abundance are mentioned for the post. Those who are supposed to have the best chance are Mr. Joseph H. Moore and Mr. Daniel Mahony—two well-known members of the bar. Of those two the former is "first favorite" in the betting, probably because he is connected with the family of the Lord Chancellor.

Mr. Quinn, of Blackrock, has issued very precise instructions to the assistants in his publichouse at the "Rock," according to his evidence in the Kingstown Police Court the other day. If a bibulous-inclined customer but gives one twinkle of the eye refreshments are to be forthwith denied him. This simplifies matters for the members of the "force." He confronts his man, the eye twinkles, and a conviction is at once assured.

Mr. Patrick O'Brien, M. P., paid a visit to Limerick in connection with Mr. John E. Redmond's lecture, for which he was making preparations, and which was to be delivered last Wednesday. Mr. O'Brien was accompanied by Mr. John McNery, Chairman of the Limerick Board of Guardians, Mr. John McNamara, and other prominent nationalists, who formed a committee to carry out the necessary details in connection with the lecture.

The Dominicans of Holy Cross, Sligo, held a public meeting on Sunday, November 13, for the purpose of raising funds toward paying the debt they have contracted in enlarging and improving their beautiful church. The original Holy Cross abbey structure was built by one of the Geraldines in 1252. This was supplemented by another church, in which the fathers officiated for more than a century. A little more than fifty years ago they built the handsome edifice which at present is undergoing improvements.

A horrible murder was perpetrated at Ballydoole, near Freshford, County Kilkenny, the victim being an old woman named Hanoria Neary, widow. Her house appears to have been entered in the early morning by some one through a hole in the thatched roof, and her head was battered in, apparently with a hammer, in a shocking manner. Richard Neary, her nephew, who lives about a mile away, has been arrested on suspicion. It is said that the murdered woman, who owned twenty-eight acres of land, was about to make a will, which would exclude the nephew from all benefits.

The Dalkey Commissioners at their last meeting received tenders for the reconstruction of certain new sewers, the cost of which will amount to $2,000. The board wisely and fairly enough decided not to open the tenders, as it was considered that the subject matter of them had not been sufficiently drawn under the notice of those likely to become contractors, and it was determined to extend the advertising medium to other papers which have large circulation among the reading public, and in the adoption of this course the board will secure the approbation of the vast majority of the ratepayers.

The corporation has decided to undertake the erection of a fresh scheme of houses for the very poor in the city of Cork, and it is to be hoped that profiting by the defects of previous schemes they will so build their houses and fix rents as to reach the very class for which these are in the first and only instance intended. Under the new scheme eleven three-story houses on the site of Harper's

Lane Market are to be erected at an estimated cost of $30,000. The situation is central, and this is a great advantage. Many of the poor, who at present live in the overcrowded slums, should find in the new dwellings a safe and beautiful home. But the corporation should see that these houses are not occupied by clerks, army pensioners and prosperous mechanics, the class of tenant into whose possession other city dwellings have fallen, and some of them will not even pay their rents. It was not with this purpose these houses were erected, and in the latest scheme adopted this difficulty should not prevail.

There is no club in County Wicklow deserving of a wider and warmer support than the Bray '98 Club. The manner in which the monster demonstration of last Wednesday night was organized and worked was simply unique, and the warm reception which Mr. Egan and the other political prisoners received was worthy of the best traditions of the county which produced the gallant outlaw O'Dwyer. The good, solid, earnest work which this club has been doing since its inauguration is highly commendable, and its success is mainly to be attributed to such popular gentlemen as Messrs. J. K. O'Reilly, J. J. Grennan, T. J. McCann and a host of others, who are all good types of Irishmen who, too, "are not everything by turns, and nothing very long," and draw none of the ratepayers' money.

Some time ago the Most Rev. Dr. Donnelly, Bishop of Canea, propounded a scheme for raising funds for the rebuilding of the new church at Bray, a work of much architectural beauty. The idea took in practice the form of, so to speak, a parish assessment, and his lordship stated that if every parishioner guaranteed to subscribe a certain sum for a period of five years he would soon be enabled to pay off the amount entailed in the work. In response to this some 151 persons sent in their names, a number which compares favorably when taken in comparison with the list of ratepayers in the town, but still there are some important parishioners whose names are absent, and it is hoped that these will soon show by their subscriptions their hearty approval of the good Bishop's noble idea.

On Sunday Mr. Francis O'Brien, who had been engaged as organist at St. Saviour's church, Glenworth street, for the past two years, was the recipient of a handsome presentation by the members of the choir previous to his departure for Dublin, his native city, where he has secured an important appointment. The Mayor, Alderman Cusack, who is a member of the choir, in presenting the souvenir—a handsome gold lever watch, suitably inscribed—alluded in felicitous terms to Mr. O'Brien's connection with St. Saviour's in Limerick, and added that regret at his departure was only lessened by the pleasure of knowing that he had secured a more important engagement in Dublin. The children of the Sodality attached to the church also took the occasion of adding a souvenir as a mark of their esteem. Mr. O'Brien is a brother of Mr. O'Brien, of Dublin.

The report read at the annual meeting of the Gaelic League last night gave a very satisfactory record of good work performed during the year, says an Irish exchange of recent date. The scope and the effectiveness of the association are gradually widening, and the means recently adopted for the spreading of knowledge of our beautiful ancient language are certain to bear excellent fruit in the future. During the past year the growth of the movement has been far-reaching beyond expectation. Eighty-seven new members of the central branch have been enrolled, and over forty new branches have been established in different parts of the country, all of them holding classes for the study of Irish. Annual festivals on the same lines will tend to keep the work of the association prominently before the public. The League has two flourishing journals printed in Gaelic; it has established a course of lectures in the Irish tongue, and it has been sending out traveling teachers and organizers through the country to stir up an interest in the matter. In many other ways steps are being taken to further the movement and to bring about a real Gaelic renaissance.

The appeal which the Wolfe Tone Memorial Committee has issued to Irish nationalists for funds to carry on and complete the great work which it has on hand will, we are confident, meet with a ready and generous response in Ireland, and in lands beyond the sea where Irishmen have found a home, says the Dublin Herald.

It would indeed be a strange thing if the response to which we have referred were not willingly made. As the appeal points out, the celebration held in Dublin on August 15, on the occasion of the laying of the foundation stone of the Wolfe Tone memorial, was one of the greatest outpourings of national feeling seen in the Irish capital. What did it mean? It meant that among the overwhelming mass of the people the name and the fame of Wolfe Tone are cherished, and the principles for which he lived and died are revered and honored. Wolfe Tone was a great Irishman; he was one of the most potent foes that English rule ever encountered in Ireland. His work for his native land had striking effects—effects which are felt even unto this day. The demonstration of August 15 afforded ample proof of this statement. Can it then be said that the funds necessary for the completion of the memorial will not be forthcoming? We do not believe anything of the kind, and we are firmly confident that at an early date there will stand in the capital of Ireland a statue that will not alone be worthy of our country, but that will point unerringly to the fact that Irishmen are not ashamed or afraid to speak of '98.

CATHOLIC KNIGHTS.

Branch No. 4 held a largely attended meeting Tuesday night, when arrangements were completed for welcoming the Legion home. All members in this city, New Albany and Jeffersonville have been invited to participate with Branch 4 upon this occasion.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

No more meetings this month.

There will be an important meeting of the Hall Board and the Ladies' Auxiliary Sunday afternoon.

The members of Division 1 were pleased to greet Mr. Peter Quinn, one of the old-time members, Tuesday evening.

The inauguration of an "owl car" on Portland avenue was hailed with delight by members of Divisions 3 and 6.

Division 1 announces another of its social sessions for the last meeting in December. There will be a full house.

Owing to the absence of President Meehan and the Vice President there was no meeting of Division 2 Thursday night.

Division 1 has under consideration the proposition to form visiting parties to attend the meetings of the various divisions in the city.

Tom Dolan, Vice President of Division 1, is an able and popular official, and the members were gratified to see him occupying his chair.

The Hibernian jubilee committee has been increased by adding to its membership the Presidents of all the divisions in Jefferson county.

Joseph Doyle, Financial Secretary of the Jeffersonville division, is now at Madison, Ill., and his place is being filled by John Kenney.

Patrick Dulaney, of Division 1, who has been with the Illinois Central for the past five years, is exulting over a deserved increase in his salary.

Tom Dolan and Pat Dulaney are great entertainers. Their rendition of Irish ballads at the last meeting of Division 1 caused the greatest enthusiasm.

President Edward Clancy presided at the last meeting of Division 1, when several new applications for membership were received and referred to committees.

The reports of the officers of Division 30, of Boston, showed an increase of $149 in the funds of the divisions and about twenty-five members over the last report.

The next meeting of Division 1, of Jeffersonville, occurs Thursday night. The editor of the Kentucky Irish American has accepted an invitation and will be present.

There will be a large number of applications and several to be initiated at the next meeting of Division 1. It is expected that State President Martin Cusick will be present.

One of the largest meetings in its history was held by Division 29, in Roxbury, President E. F. Ward presiding. The division held its annual ball last Tuesday evening.

Hibernians will be surprised to learn that County President John A. Murphy has developed into a first-class auctioneer. This explains the cause of his absence from meetings of late.

A division, known as Division 63, Boston, was organized in Monument Hall, Charlestown, by W. H. Cronin, the County President. Division 63 begins its career with bright prospects.

State Secretary Coleman was present at the last meeting of Division 1. He delivered a very interesting address, and invited those present to attend the meeting of Division 3 the first Wednesday in December.

Peter Linskey, of the Hibernian Knights, may not have a very Irish name, but he possesses one of the richest brogues our reporter ever listened to. He comes nightly near making one imagine he is back in Ireland.

Tomorrow evening the thirty-first anniversary of the murder of the Manchester martyrs by the British Government will be commemorated under the auspices of Division 1, of Syracuse, N. Y. Addresses will be delivered by Hon. Michael E. Driscoll, who will represent Syracuse in the next Congress; Hon. James K. McGuire, Mayor of the city, and Hon. John T. Delaney.

At the last regular monthly meeting of Division 3, of Boston, arrangements were completed for the '98 centennial celebration, which will take place at the Grand Opera House on Sunday evening, December 4. It will without doubt be the greatest commemoration of the United Irishmen yet held in this country, and can not fail to redound to the honor and glory of the order.

Mike Cavanaugh, a popular member of Division No. 1 of the Hibernians is making arrangements to take a trip to the "Emerald Isle" after the holidays. Some of the boys say he will bring a rosy-cheeked "lollie" with him on his return. If this be so, we wish them both a happy and speedy return to our midst and will give them the glad hand of welcome and congratulation.

The annual ball of the Hibernians of Jamaica Plains Mass., was conceded to have been the greatest social success ever held in that section. The hall was beautifully decorated with the stars and stripes and the green and gold of old Ireland intertwined, while on the front walls hung full-sized portraits of John Boyle O'Reilly and Robert Emmet, representative of the union in the hearts of Irishmen of the old and new lands. There was a large attendance of delighted people.

The death occurred a short time ago of Philip Bernard O'Reilly, a prominent Irishman, of Terre Haute, Ind. Mr. O'Reilly was a native of County Cavan, Ire., and was seventy-five years old. He was, says a correspondent, the oldest member of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in America, having been a member in good standing for fifty-seven years. He joined it in Butler Ridge, County Cavan. He was a delegate from Indiana to the national convention of the order which was held in Louisville, Ky. He was the authentic historian of the A. O. H. in America. His son, John P. O'Reilly, has served both as State Presi-

Clean Coal

Is What You Get. Try our

1st Quality, 4th Pool

PITTSBURGH COAL.

Screened Lump, 25 bus. $2.25
Screened Lump, 100 bus. 9.00
Anthracite, best quality, per ton 6.50
Crushed Coke, 50 bus. 4.50

PACIFIC COAL CO.

Office, 452 W. Jefferson St.

Phones 1821 and 871.

dent and State Secretary of the order, and is still an active worker in the cause. Many delegates will remember his eloquent oration at Louisville on the origin of the society. The funeral services were held at St. Joseph's church, which was filled with friends of the old scholar and barrister. The eulogy was delivered by Father Lichner. Three of the four divisions of the Hibernians in the county, all of which were instituted by Mr. O'Reilly, escorted the body to the grave in Woodlawn.

Division 25, of Boston, had several visitors from other divisions at its meeting in St. Andrews' Hall, all of whom complimented the division on the excellent manner in which the business was carried on. This division will hold a celebration in honor of the "Manchester Martyrs" on Sunday evening, November 27. The committee having in charge the elaboration of the initiation exercises reported progress. It is understood that when its work is finished the initiation ceremonial of Division 25 will be the envy of other divisions.

Division 4 held a very largely attended meeting Wednesday evening, with President John Hennessy in the chair. After the reading of the minutes, a number of applicants were balloted for and elected members of the order and one was initiated. The committee appointed to draw up resolutions endorsing the Kentucky Irish American reported and their recommendations approving the paper and commending it to the public were unanimously adopted. Several new applications were received and referred to Membership Committee.

The Rev. John F. Cummins, of Rosindale, Mass., the State chaplain, has entered the lecture field and will fill a limited number of engagements in near-by places between now and Christmas. After the holidays he will make an extended tour of New England. One of his subjects, "Camp Life at Montauk," is of absorbing interest just at this time. It will be remembered that Father Cummins performed heroic work among the sick and dying soldiers in the hospitals at Camp Wickett last summer. In this lecture he relates some thrilling stories and gives a vivid description of scenes and incidents among the brave soldiers from Massachusetts after their return from the Cuban battlefields.

The Rev. John F. Cummins, of Rosindale, Mass., the State chaplain, has entered the lecture field and will fill a limited number of engagements in near-by places between now and Christmas. After the holidays he will make an extended tour of New England. One of his subjects, "Camp Life at Montauk," is of absorbing interest just at this time. It will be remembered that Father Cummins performed heroic work among the sick and dying soldiers in the hospitals at Camp Wickett last summer. In this lecture he relates some thrilling stories and gives a vivid description of scenes and incidents among the brave soldiers from Massachusetts after their return from the Cuban battlefields.

The Rev. John F. Cummins, of Rosindale, Mass., the State chaplain, has entered the lecture field and will fill a limited number of engagements in near-by places between now and Christmas. After the holidays he will make an extended tour of New England. One of his subjects, "Camp Life at Montauk," is of absorbing interest just at this time. It will be remembered that Father Cummins performed heroic work among the sick and dying soldiers in the hospitals at Camp Wickett last summer. In this lecture he relates some thrilling stories and gives a vivid description of scenes and incidents among the brave soldiers from Massachusetts after their return from the Cuban battlefields.

The Rev. John F. Cummins, of Rosindale, Mass., the State chaplain, has entered the lecture field and will fill a limited number of engagements in near-by places between now and Christmas. After the holidays he will make an extended tour of New England. One of his subjects, "Camp Life at Montauk," is of absorbing interest just at this time. It will be remembered that Father Cummins performed heroic work among the sick and dying soldiers in the hospitals at Camp Wickett last summer. In this lecture he relates some thrilling stories and gives a vivid description of scenes and incidents among the brave soldiers from Massachusetts after their return from the Cuban battlefields.

The Rev. John F. Cummins, of Rosindale, Mass., the State chaplain, has entered the lecture field and will fill a limited number of engagements in near-by places between now and Christmas. After the holidays he will make an extended tour of New England. One of his subjects, "Camp Life at Montauk," is of absorbing interest just at this time. It will be remembered that Father Cummins performed heroic work among the sick and dying soldiers in the hospitals at Camp Wickett last summer. In this lecture he relates some thrilling stories and gives a vivid description of scenes and incidents among the brave soldiers from Massachusetts after their return from the Cuban battlefields.

The Rev. John F. Cummins, of Rosindale, Mass., the State chaplain, has entered the lecture field and will fill a limited number of engagements in near-by places between now and Christmas. After the holidays he will make an extended tour of New England. One of his subjects, "Camp Life at Montauk," is of absorbing interest just at this time. It will be remembered that Father Cummins performed heroic work among the sick and dying soldiers in the hospitals at Camp Wickett last summer. In this lecture he relates some thrilling stories and gives a vivid description of scenes and incidents among the brave soldiers from Massachusetts after their return from the Cuban battlefields.

The Rev. John F. Cummins, of Rosindale, Mass., the State chaplain, has entered the lecture field and will fill a limited number of engagements in near-by places between now and Christmas. After the holidays he will make an extended tour of New England. One of his subjects, "Camp Life at Montauk," is of absorbing interest just at this time. It will be remembered that Father Cummins performed heroic work among the sick and dying soldiers in the hospitals at Camp Wickett last summer. In this lecture he relates some thrilling stories and gives a vivid description of scenes and incidents among the brave soldiers from Massachusetts after their return from the Cuban battlefields.

The Rev. John F. Cummins, of Rosindale, Mass., the State chaplain, has entered the lecture field and will fill a limited number of engagements in near-by places between now and Christmas. After the holidays he will make an extended tour of New England. One of his subjects, "Camp Life at Montauk," is of absorbing interest just at this time. It will be remembered that Father Cummins performed heroic work among the sick and dying soldiers in the hospitals at Camp Wickett last summer. In this lecture he relates some thrilling stories and gives a vivid description of scenes and incidents among the brave soldiers from Massachusetts after their return from the Cuban battlefields.

The Rev. John F. Cummins, of Rosindale, Mass., the State chaplain, has entered the lecture field and will fill a limited number of engagements in near-by places between now and Christmas. After the holidays he will make an extended tour of New England. One of his subjects, "Camp Life at Montauk," is of absorbing interest just at this time. It will be remembered that Father Cummins performed heroic work among the sick and dying soldiers in the hospitals at Camp Wickett last summer. In this lecture he relates some thrilling stories and gives a vivid description of scenes and incidents among the brave soldiers from Massachusetts after their return from the Cuban battlefields.

The Rev. John F. Cummins, of Rosindale, Mass., the State chaplain, has entered the lecture field and will fill a limited number of engagements in near-by places between now and Christmas. After the holidays he will make an extended tour of New England. One of his subjects, "Camp Life at Montauk," is of absorbing interest just at this time. It will be remembered that Father Cummins performed heroic work among the sick and dying soldiers in the hospitals at Camp Wickett last summer. In this lecture he relates some thrilling stories and gives a vivid description of scenes and incidents among the brave soldiers from Massachusetts after their return from the Cuban battlefields.

The Rev. John F. Cummins, of Rosindale, Mass., the State chaplain, has entered the lecture field and will fill a limited number of engagements in near-by places between now and Christmas. After the holidays he will make an extended tour of New England. One of his subjects, "Camp Life at Montauk," is of absorbing interest just at this time. It will be remembered that Father Cummins performed heroic work among the sick and dying soldiers in the hospitals at Camp Wickett last summer. In this lecture he relates some thrilling stories and gives a vivid description of scenes and incidents among the brave soldiers from Massachusetts after their return from the Cuban battlefields.

The Rev. John F. Cummins, of Rosindale, Mass., the State chaplain, has entered the lecture field and will fill a limited number of engagements in near-by places between now and Christmas. After the holidays he will make an extended tour of New England. One of his subjects, "Camp Life at Montauk," is of absorbing interest just at this time. It will be remembered that Father Cummins performed heroic work among the sick and dying soldiers in the hospitals at Camp Wickett last summer. In this lecture he relates some thrilling stories and gives a vivid description of scenes and incidents among the brave soldiers from Massachusetts after their return from the Cuban battlefields.

The Rev. John F. Cummins, of Rosindale, Mass., the State chaplain, has entered the lecture field and will fill a limited number of engagements in near-by places between now and Christmas. After the holidays he will make an extended tour of New England. One of his subjects, "Camp Life at Montauk," is of absorbing interest just at this time. It will be remembered that Father Cummins performed heroic work among the sick and dying soldiers in the hospitals at Camp Wickett last summer. In this lecture he relates some thrilling stories and gives a vivid description of scenes and incidents among the brave soldiers from Massachusetts after their return from the Cuban battlefields.

The Rev. John F. Cummins, of Rosindale, Mass., the State chaplain, has entered the lecture field and will fill a limited number of engagements in near-by places between now and Christmas. After the holidays he will make an extended tour of New England. One of his subjects, "Camp Life at Montauk," is of absorbing interest just at this time. It will be remembered that Father Cummins performed heroic work among the sick and dying soldiers in the hospitals at Camp Wickett last summer. In this lecture he relates some thrilling stories and gives a vivid description of scenes and incidents among the brave soldiers from Massachusetts after their return from the Cuban battlefields.

The Rev. John F. Cummins, of Rosindale, Mass., the State chaplain, has entered the lecture field and will fill a limited number of engagements in near-by places between now and Christmas. After the holidays he will make an extended tour of New England. One of his subjects, "Camp Life at Montauk," is of absorbing interest just at this time. It will be remembered that Father Cummins performed heroic work among the sick and dying soldiers in the hospitals at Camp Wickett last summer. In this lecture he relates some thrilling stories and gives a vivid description of scenes and incidents among the brave soldiers from Massachusetts after their return from the Cuban battlefields.

The Rev. John F. Cummins, of Rosindale, Mass., the State chaplain, has entered the lecture field and will fill a limited number of engagements in near-by places between now and Christmas. After the holidays he will make an extended tour of New England. One of his subjects, "Camp Life at Montauk," is of absorbing interest just at this time. It will be remembered that Father Cummins performed heroic work among the sick and dying soldiers in the hospitals at Camp Wickett last summer. In this lecture he relates some thrilling stories and gives a vivid description of scenes and incidents among the brave soldiers from Massachusetts after their return from the Cuban battlefields.

The Rev. John F. Cummins, of Rosindale, Mass., the State chaplain, has entered the lecture field and will fill a limited number of engagements in near-by places between now and Christmas. After the holidays he will make an extended tour of New England. One of his subjects, "Camp Life at Montauk," is of absorbing interest just at this time. It will be remembered that Father Cummins performed heroic work among the sick and dying soldiers in the hospitals at Camp Wickett last summer. In this lecture he relates some thrilling stories and gives a vivid description of scenes and incidents among the brave soldiers from Massachusetts after their return from the Cuban battlefields.

The Rev. John F. Cummins, of Rosindale, Mass., the State chaplain, has entered the lecture field and will fill a limited number of engagements in near-by places between now and Christmas. After the holidays he will make an extended tour of New England. One of his subjects, "Camp Life at Montauk," is of absorbing interest just at this time. It will be remembered that Father Cummins performed heroic work among the sick and dying soldiers in the hospitals at Camp Wickett last summer. In this lecture he relates some thrilling stories and gives a vivid description of scenes and incidents among the brave soldiers from Massachusetts after their return from the Cuban battlefields.

The Rev. John F. Cummins, of Rosindale, Mass., the State chaplain, has entered the lecture field and will fill a limited number of engagements in near-by places between now and Christmas. After the holidays he will make an extended tour of New England. One of his subjects, "Camp Life at Montauk," is of absorbing interest just at this time. It will be remembered that Father Cummins performed heroic work among the sick and dying soldiers in the hospitals at Camp Wickett last summer. In this lecture he relates some thrilling stories and gives a vivid description of scenes and incidents among the brave soldiers from Massachusetts after their return from the Cuban battlefields.

The Rev. John F. Cummins, of Rosindale, Mass., the State chaplain, has entered the lecture field and will fill a limited number of engagements in near-by places between now and Christmas. After the holidays he will make an extended tour of New England. One of his subjects, "Camp Life at Montauk," is of absorbing interest just at this time. It will be remembered that Father Cummins performed heroic work among the sick and dying soldiers in the hospitals at Camp Wickett last summer. In this lecture he relates some thrilling stories and gives a vivid description of scenes and incidents among the brave soldiers from Massachusetts after their return from the Cuban battlefields.

BUCKINGHAM

Week Com. Sunday Matinee, November 27

The Scenic Burlesque Production,

Gay Masqueraders.

Spectacular Extravaganza, "McNulty and the Model"; Adje and her den of Man-Eating Lions; Spectacular Military Review, "Columbia Forever," and an olio of strong specialties.

TEMPLE THEATER

W. H. MEFFERT, MANAGER.

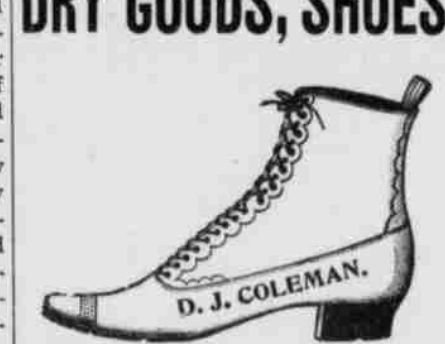

MEFFERT STOCK COMPANY

—IN—

Northern Lights.

Matinee Daily at 2:15. Night Performances at 8:15.
Popular Prices—10, 15, 25, 35c. No higher.

DRY GOODS, SHOES

Ladies' and Gents' Furnishings

1731 Portland Ave.

HOTEL RICHELIEU

CAFE AND RESTAURANT,

M. J. SWEENEY, PROP.

221 THIRD AVE.

Private Dining Rooms. Open Day and Night. Best of Wines and Cigars.

TELEPHONE 662.

BIG FOUR ROUTE

TO

Indianapolis

Peoria

CHICAGO

AND ALL POINTS IN

INDIANA and

... MICHIGAN.

... BEST TERMINALS ...

UNION DEPOT

Corner Seventh St. and River.

CITY TICKET OFFICE

No. 218 Fourth Ave.

S. J. GATES,

General Agent, Louisville, Ky.

E. G. McCORMICK, Pass. Traf. Mgr.,

WARREN J. LYNCH, A. G. P. A.,

CINCINNATI, O.

M. D. LAWLER. M. J. LAWLER.

LAWLER & SON

FIRST CLASS

Grocery and Saloon

N. W. Cor. Nineteenth and Duncan.

MARTIN J. GAVIN,

DEALER IN FINE

GROCERIES AND VEGETABLES.

Fine Wines and Liquors Always on Hand.

2301 EIGHTH STREET. TELEPHONE 1266.

CHARLES J. CRONIN,

TWELFTH AND ZANE.

DRUGS AND DRUGGIST'S SUNDRIES

Particular Attention Paid to Filling Family Prescriptions.

church, as the ancients did the Holy Land. The church was decorated with evergreens and roses, and on the five altars together there were about 2,000 candles, besides the three priests saying mass and the master of ceremonies, with Rev. Father Bax, the pastor, Father Woerner, his assistant, and seventy-five altar boys carrying torches. On the whole it was the grandest event of its kind ever held in Louisville.

FOOTBALL IN LIMERICK.

The Limerick Regulars defeated the Limerick Reserves in a foot ball game at the Athletic Club grounds last Saturday afternoon by a score of fifteen to nothing. The feature of the game was the brilliant interference of Full Back Sexton and Left Tackle Dolan of the Regulars. The Regulars will line up against Phil Chaw's and Johnnie Hogan's picked eleven this afternoon.

Read the Kentucky Irish American for news from Ireland.

GEO. J. BUTLER,

—DEALER IN—

Groceries, Produce,
Fresh Meats
and Vegetables.

CIGARS AND TOBACCO.

Telephone 846.